COMMENTS SOUGHT ON AGRICULTURAL AND HORTICULTURAL LAND USE

All person interested in making comments on proposed amendments to the standards of the Virginia Land Use Law that would better define bona fide agricultural and horticultural use will have until June 24, 1977 to make comments according to Commissioner S. Mason Carbaugh of the Va. Dept. of Agricultural and Commerce.

The Commissioner said that he was pleased by the many comments made at the recent public hearing in Richmond, but was withholding a final decision until all interested parties could be heard.

The amendments to the Standards for Classification of Real Estate Devoted to Agricultural and Horticultural Use would require that the real estate have or normally have an annual gross sales of one thousand dollars and over of agricultural or horticultural products. Further, when the real estate is used primarily for commercial production of livestock, livestock products, poultry or poultry products, the amendments would require a minimum of twelve animal unit months of commercial livestock or poultry per five acres of open land for the previous year.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

In regard to the letter to the editor published in the Times-Virginian on June 16, 1977, concerning an academic scholarship to Ms. Kim Ferguson and falsely signed, Shelia Goin.

Since I was publicly given unduly commendation for the article published in last week's newspaper, I now wish to publicly denounce any relationship of myself with the work.

I wish it also to be known that if my time was to be spent writing "Letters to the Editor" the topics would concern worthwhile matters of the present and personal defense rather than trivial and defamatory remarks as displayed by my opposing author.

Respectfully,
Ms. Shelia Goin

Kenny McClenny with his winning 4-H Dairy poster.

Joe Ford with his winning 4-H Dairy poster.

Kenneth McClenny, left age group 9 - 11; Michelle Paulette, center, age group 12 - 14; and Joe Ford, right, age group 15 - 18 were 1st place winners in the June is Dairy Month Poster contest. These three winning posters were judged in Farmville for an additional $5.00 prize and the poster by Joe Ford won in his age group. These three posters will be judged on the 21st of June at VPI&SU during State 4-H Club Congress to determine the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place state winners in each age group. In each age group, the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place winners will receive homemade Ice Cream freezers. Each of the winners wrote the following about their poster:

Kenneth McClenny - My dairy poster shows that milk makes you very strong. I drew a globe-like man and measured his muscles. I put scales under him to see how much he weighed and used a yard stick to see how tall he was. I wanted to show that milk makes the whole world strong.

Michelle Paulette - On my poster, I put a ruler on both sides of a large milk bottle. On one side there is a little girl with a tricycle and blocks in the background. On the other side, there is a teenager with a Coed magazine on the floor and a television with the American Bandstand trademark on it. The reason I put those things in the background is; as milk helps the girl grow, her interests grow also.

Joe Ford - "Milk Measures Up", that's the theme for this years 4-H June is Dairy Month Poster Contest. A number of ideas came to my mind when I heard this year's theme. Using a ruler, measuring cup, and speedometer were only a few of the many ideas I had. I finally decided to use a baby's milk bottle as the main portion of my poster. As children, most of us experienced milk for the first time from a baby's bottle. As we grow older into childhood, milk becomes a daily drink for us at home as well as at school. By the time we reach adulthood, milk has become very much a part of our lives. Seldom do we go a day without drinking a cold glass of milk or eating some sort of milk and milk by-product. I wanted to make my poster colorful and eye-catching. By using a wide variety of colors and a large baby bottle, I attempted to do this. From infancy to childhood, and from childhood to adulthood-"Milk Measures Up", to produce strong and healthy people.
